Circle Around Sun Occasions Comment

Many New Castle residents witnessed the unusual sight of a phenomenon of a circle around the sun on Sunday. The circle was visible for several hours, starting about noon. Many queries were received at The News Sunday afternoon as to the cause of the condition, and S. S. Myers, well-known local scientist, was asked if there was an explanation for the condition.

His reply in explanation is as follows: Dear Mr. Conway: I have been requested to explain the phenomena witnessed yesterday—Sunday, shortly after noon, by a number of persons who happened to look toward the sun. It is not often that one sees a circle around the sun, although the so-called "sun dog" is a common occurrence and a circle around the moon may be seen at any time when the atmosphere is laden with mist, and is usually followed by wet weather. The phenomena of yesterday indicates an abundance of water vapor in the atmosphere and would have presented some of the colors of a rainbow had it not been for the volcanic dust in the upper atmosphere. Much of this dust being mixed with the water vapor gave the circle a light, grayish appearance and will be precipitated in the next rainfall. Until this volcanic dust is brought to earth by rain and the force of the sun's rays the weather is likely to be very erratic—some days unusually hot, but on the whole the temperature will be below normal.

Very truly yours,
S. S. MYERS.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Negotiations for a naval understanding between the United States and Great Britain will be speeded up as soon as Charles G. Dawes arrives in London to assume his ambassadorship.

It is probable that Dawes' first major task in London will be the presentation of the new plan for measuring the relative strength of the American and British navies, which circles the plan is called "a new yardstick." While its details remained undisclosed, the understanding is that it involves a totally different method of arriving at each nation's needs than has ever been discussed by the experts in their various attempts to get together at the Geneva meetings.

Rumblings Heard.
Meanwhile there was an undercurrent of rumbling in Congress today among those who led the bitter fight in the last congress for the enactment of the 15-cruiser program, which calls for the laying down of five 10,000-ton cruisers each year until 1922.

President Hoover's forthcoming proposal to the British involves the scrapping of these cruisers, which now exist in fact, only on paper. Under the enactment law, the president was given power to suspend building in the event of "an international agreement," which he was "earnestly" importuned to promote. Traffic conditions are becoming so elegant for safety first on Sunday afternoons that it is getting to be a good slogan for safety first on Sunday afternoons to "leave the car in the garage."

With a ring around the sun Sunday afternoon and with a frost during the night, New Castle's freak weather of the present year is being continued. Many citizens had a glimpse of the circle around the sun on Sunday, the first time that they had ever seen such a phenomena of nature.

Westminster college alumni, back in New Westminster for the commencement exercises, are marveling at the new Westminster. The magnificent new college building and the boys' dormitory, recently completed, are things to enthuse over, they declare.

Amateur gardeners who have delayed setting out tomato plants were expressing gratification today. Many plants that had been set out were damaged by the frost of last night.

PARIS, June 3.—Although Belgium and Germany have not yet reached an agreement upon the Belgian claim for reimbursement for depreciated marks left behind when the Germans evacuated Belgium, a majority of the reparation experts were hopeful today that the conference report could be signed before Wednesday night.

A formal accord, bearing recommendations to the interested governments, will not be signed until the Belgians and Germans settle the depreciated mark problem. The Belgio-German issue is the only important point that remains to be settled.

Negotiations Opened.

The German government has entered into direct negotiations with the Belgian government upon this issue. A German spokesman expressed belief to International News Service that a satisfactory solution would be found possible. He said he did not think the Belgians would obtain the full amount they demanded, but that the Germans are confident of a compromise.

Virtually the full report of the conference, as compiled by the sub-committee headed by Sir Josiah Stamp of England, is in the hands of the delegates.

When the Dawes plan ends and the Young plan becomes effective the international bank of payments will be created to collect and disburse the reparation payments. This bank will take the place of the post of agents general for reparations payments now held by Parker Gilbert.

It is understood that the official accord, when it is signed, will promise Germany a reduction of reparation obligations should the United States, at any future date, reduce the war debts owing to that country by the European allied powers.

Rev. Maxwell said that "only when your character is founded on the Rock of Ages can you say truly, 'I can'. I can stand up under the subtle temptations and the forces which today tend to the destruction of the moral fibre of my being; for it is God who strengthened me."

Frost Blankets City And County

Heavy Frost Occurs Early
This Morning; Temperature Is 32.5 De-

CROP DAMAGE IS UNCERTAIN

Nearly chilling frost records of 1859, New Castle and parts of Lawrence county were covered with a heavy frost this morning and temperature during the early morning hours was near freezing. According to E. J. Johnson, U. S. weather observer here, the thermometer mercury dropped down to 32.5 during the night.

Just what the damage is, if any, is not known. Reports from the Walker greenhouses state that there was considerable damage and that plants were mostly covered about three o'clock this morning to prevent further serious damage.

County Agent H. R. McCulloch is not in the city today and could not be interviewed as to his opinion of what damage might be done.

The frost today, almost eclipses what is supposed to be the record frost dates. In the year 1859, it is said that there were heavy frosts on both the morning of June 5 and June 12.

A number of local farms were of the opinion that fruit and garden stuffs were far enough along so as to combat injury but pasture grass is in serious danger from such a frost.

Investigations throughout the day will probably determine whether or not the frost has been of a very serious nature to farm crops and fruit.

Plan Of Distribution In Penn-

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
(Special News Washington Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 3.—The new small-sized paper money issued by the treasury department will be first distributed to patrons of New Castle banks on July 10, according to a statement made public by the United States treasury department today.

The first issue of the new small money in Pennsylvania will be handed through the federal reserve bank at Philadelphia and the member banks in the Keystone State. The Philadelphia bank will supply Pennsylvania member banks with the currency which in turn have been authorized to make available to other banks in the State limited amounts of the new bills on an equitable basis established by them.

From $1 to $20.
The first issue of the new small currency to appear in New Castle banks on July 10 will include all kinds except national bank notes, and all denominations from $1 to $20. Small-sized gold certificates and federal reserve notes in denominations above $20 will be issued at a later date, the treasury department states.

Small-sized national bank notes will be printed and issued in order of charter numbers beginning July 15 of the present year.

New Designs.
The new reduced-size bills will bear wholly new designs, the designs having been adopted on a denominational basis, the treasury department states. The revision of designs will eliminate existing confusion, and will furnish a new and more effective protection to the currency issues of the United States against counterfeiting and fraudulent alterations, the department believes.

Relief Old Gradually.
The department does not plan any immediate retirement of the old money now in circulation. The old currency will be retired gradually in the regular course of business, and in the meantime its validity will not be affected by the issue of the new small-sized bills.

The treasury department admits that the public of New Castle may suffer some inconveniences during the period when the two sizes of currency are in circulation, but the department believes it may confidently ask the indulgence and cooperation of the public in view of the ultimate advantages to be gained.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—The special session of congress, which President Hoover called for the relief of agriculture and for revision of the tariff, entered its eighth week today with its program sufficiently advanced to warrant the leaders arranging an all-summer vacation.

The new farm relief bill, upon which senate and house conferees are rapidly reaching an agreement, will be placed upon the statute books within ten days unless some unforeseen development bars its path.

May Adjourn June

The new tariff bill already has passed the house but will not be ready for the senate for another two months, while the senate finance committee considers it. In the meantime, administration leaders, with the concurrence of Democratic chieftains, have decided to send congress home probably from June 11 or 12 until September 9.

A number of relatively minor tasks must be completed before the recess (Continued On Page Two)

MOORESTOWN, New Jersey, June 3.—Two possible solutions loomed today in the mysterious double shooting of Ruth Wilson, 25 year old daughter of a socially prominent and wealthy family, and her former fiance, Horace Roberts, Jr., also 25, both found mortally wounded in the girl's home here yesterday.

One was the theory of murder and suicide, the explanation held out by Burlington County Prosecutor George M. Hillman. The other was a possibility that the deaths were a double murder, and although all surface indications pointed to the former, this second theory was being given full consideration by the investigation authorities today.

Bart Richards Hurt In Crash

Hand Badly Crushed When Machine Is Hurlled Into Ditch Near Coal-

(International News Service)

Hon. Barton E. Richards, of South Mill street, a member of The News editorial staff, suffered the loss of the little finger on his left hand, and had his hand badly crushed when his car overturned on the Coakown hill Sunday afternoon about 5:30 o'clock.

Mr. Richards was on his way to the home of Attorney William Caldwell of the Wilmington Road and in ascending the hill after leaving the garage at the end of Highland avenue, his machine in some manner got out of control, hitting the ditch on the right hand side of the road and then swerving into the ditch on the left.

It is believed that his left hand was thrown out of the window on the left side of the car, while it bounced from the one side of the road to the other, and was caught between the body of the machine and the embankment, badly crushing it.

A man named Billings of New Wilmington, who arrived on the scene soon afterwards, took him to the Shomango Valley Hospital, where it was found necessary to amputate the little finger.

Mr. Richards is resting comfortably today and expects to be able to leave the hospital in a few days.

Richards' car, which was a small coupe which he has been driving for several years, was considerably damaged, the left front wheel being smashed, and the fender and springs broken.

Grain Prices Sagging Today

Congressional Conference Session To Try And Reconcile Differences

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Steadily sagging grain prices, particularly wheat, acted as a spur today to the congressional conference when they met again to try to reconcile the differences between the Senate and House bills.

The body of 90-cent wheat bid fair to compose more differences than to argue or to argue the somewhat uneasy members battled on. They are beginning to hear complaints from "back home." The corn-and-wheat belt is beginning to talk to Congress via letters and telegraphic appeals to "do something."

If an agreement can be reached within the next few days, some members believe it will be possible to get the farm board set up in the new legislation to functioning in time to be of assistance in handling the new crop which will start coming into the market about mid-July. How the new board, even if it can be formed in time, is to bolster up a sagging market remains to be seen. But some members insist it will have "a good moral effect" on the market.

The low prices of grain, wheat, oats and rye, are a source of considerable perturbation to the administration. President Hoover already has prevailed upon the railroads to lower rates.

last night to hear their baccalaureate sermon, the New Castle high school seniors, the Westminster college seniors, the Union high seniors, the Bass-senior high seniors and Enon Valley seniors.

It just struck Pa Newc the other day when he saw a little colored boy get a nasty cut on the head as he was walking along Washington street and his head came in contact with the sharp edge of the government mail box in front of Reynolds, Summers and McCann, that is hardly a safe location for a mail box. It's just low enough to catch youngsters on the head as they are walking along and extends out just enough to do them real damage.

If Pa Newc, had something to do with it he would have the owners of vacant properties cut the weeds on those properties now. It would kill off the noxious weeds from maturing and then it would improve the appearance of the district, and Pa Newc would also speed up the city in the matter of cutting down the tall weeds and grass along all sidewalks and in all properties of the city.

Vacation season is now at hand and Pa Newc believes that every person (with a few exceptions of course) is entitled to a vacation. It's not the money you spend or the distance that you go that makes the vacation enjoyable it's that change from the usual daily vocations that makes the vacation a thing to be desired.

It's the season of the year now when a real good job of laying sidewalks can be done. Pa Newc suggests that it would be a good time for the sidewalk inspector to get busy and lay in some of the extremely bad pieces of sidewalks about the city and start action to have them put in good condition.

College students from scores of different educational institutions over the United States, whose homes are here, are arriving for the summer vacation period. Most of the colleges in this district will hold their graduation exercises some time this week. Baccalaureate services occurred at various places last night.

Two months ago, Miss Wilson returned a ring Roberts had given her, but the couple remained friendly, and were often seen together. Recently, according to acquaintances of the couple, Roberts and Miss Wilson quarreled over her friendship for another young man living in Moorestown, and Roberts had been depressed and worried over his courtship.

Investigation is being made into a motor ride the couple took Saturday afternoon with John Collins, young Princeton graduate, and a young woman whose name has been withheld by the authorities. Collins refused to say whether there had been a lovers' quarrel during the trip, referring all questions to Asa Slackhouse, law partner of the dead man's father, who was equally uncommunicative.

The suicide and murder theory is held to chiefly because the pistol from which the shots were fired was found in Roberts' hand, and also because friends of the couple told police he had been extremely jealous and had threatened to end his life, feeling his love for the pretty college girl was not reciprocated.

Roberts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Roberts of Hootan Hall, one of the show-places of this section of the state, and half-brother of former state senator Emmory Roberts, was graduated from Swarthmore College in 1926.

Coming Of Post Office Architect May Mean Action

Architectural Engineer At Washington To Visit New Castle Shortly

Postmaster Edwin W. Crawford received word from Washington today that D. E. Doyle, architectural engineer for the United States Treasury Department would visit the city within a few weeks.

It is believed here that Doyle's coming may herald action in regard to the construction of a new post office or an addition to the present one, as provided for New Castle in the extensive federal building plan adopted by Congress.

It was Doyle who visited New Castle last year when it was first made known that New Castle was slated for a new building, or possibly an addition. At that time he inspected local sites and submitted recommendations to the Washington office.

BEAUTIFUL WEDDING IN JOHNSON HOME

ELECT DELEGATES TO D. A. R. CONVENTION

Lovely in every detail was the first wedding of the month Saturday evening, June 1, in the home of Mrs. Charles H. Johnson, Moody avenue, when her only daughter, Winifred, became the bride of Frederic Arthur Bryan of New York City.

Gorgeous roses, palms and ferns formed the background for the ceremony, which took place at seven o'clock in the living room in the presence of the immediate family and a few guests. Rev. Earl Willey of Washington, D. C., former pastor of the First Christian church of this city, officiated with the impressive ring service.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Charles H. Johnson Jr., of Washington, D. C., was beautiful in a gown of white satin with lace veil fashioned with a coronet and carried an arm bouquet of calla lilies.

George and Thomas Johnson, brothers of the bride, carried the bouquets to form the bridal aisle, and Phillips Johnson Jr. of Baltimore, Md., was ring bearer.

Mrs. Phillips Johnson of Baltimore, as matron of honor, was attractive in a lovely gown of rose pink and delphinium blue satin and carried an arm bouquet of roses and delphinium.

Richard Thompson of Baltimore, Md., uncle of the groom, served as best man.

A beautifully appointed wedding dinner supplemented the ceremony and color tones of rose and blue prevailed in the decorations.

A reception at the New Castle Field Club interested nearly 300 guests later in the evening. Elaborate floral decorations made a lovely setting for the occasion, and the tables were decorated with tall tapers and roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryan left for an eastern trip and next week will leave for a trip abroad for the summer months. Upon their return in the fall they will reside in New York City.

What Will Labor Do?
Women As Lawmakers.
365% A Year.
$90,000,000,000 Income.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1920, King Features
Synd., Inc.)

Labor appears to have won the British election.
British Labor is socialist, much of it communistic, but of mild communism.

Imagine the panic in dear old Wall street and every well organized financial mind if labor and socialism controlled the government of this country.

But the British will manage. They "muddle through" because they have common sense, and British Labor has honest, intelligent leaders.

Ramsay MacDonald is as good a man as there is in Britain, although not as great or able a statesman as Lloyd George.

Millions of Britishers that do not like Lady Astor's politics are glad she is re-elected.

Ten women will sit in the new House of Commons. Four are in our House of Representatives. There ought to be at least 200.

Soon there will be a woman in the Senate. Mrs. Ruffa McCormack, daughter of Mark Hanna, now in the House of Representatives, will be sent to the Senate next spring by the people of Illinois. They recognize earnestness and ability and are proud of their intelligent women.

"Seest thou a man diligent in his business?" The Bible says it, and Wall street brokers can prove it.

Financial gentlemen, diligent in their business, have arranged to charge one per cent on a call "day loan." That is, for temporary certification of overdraft for one day.

That little charge, dearly beloved, doesn't amount to a great deal, only about $13,500 a day, or $5,000,000 a year. But every little helps.

Prof. Copeland of Cornell, after a careful investigation, figures the income of the United States at ninety billion a year.

About a year ago Mr. Eckert gave the same figure. His work as president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company gives him accurate information.

The important fact supplied by Mr. Eckert is that wages and salaries equal six billion a year.

Living expenses equal forty-five billion, leaving fifteen billion over, as a "backlog" for national prosperity, luxuries, investments, etc.

For those who take golf seriously and don't leave the professional who says "You look up and stop short in your swing," the latest idea is to have a slow motion moving picture made of the play in action. Try it if you can afford it. You will be surprised.

Many of us would be surprised to see a slow motion picture of our brains, if that were possible.

Cool Lindbergh's name will appear in the Social Register, after his wife's. Later his name may appear first, hers following.

That means nothing to the average homesteader on the Mojave Desert. It means a good deal in New York.

In 1928 suicide rates were the highest in 12 years, about 13 in 100,000 in 100 cities. Anxiety of one kind or another was responsible for 90 per cent of the suicides.

Stock exchange gambling doubtless had something to do with it.

At 10 o'clock a few gentlemen gathered together in New York and announced what the call money interest rates will be for that day. Somebody in Congress should start an investigation and find out just who those gentlemen are and how they reach the conclusion that 15 per cent or 20 per cent is desirable.

Whether they were long or short. That might make a difference. It would take 20 per cent money to enable you to "get back in the market" if you sold out too soon.

The motto of the Pacific coast seems to be "If you haven't got a thing, get it."

The city of Stockton, the San Joaquin and Sacramento valleys can produce enough food to feed a great part of the world.

But the place needs a harbor for ships, and will have it. Stockton, the state of California and the federal government this year will dig a deep water channel to the sea and Stockton will have a harbor big enough to hold 90 per cent of the ships that come through the Golden Gate.

No one knows what the future of the Pacific coast will be, or what the size of inland harbors built will be, wherever men want them.

Mr. George E. Moore of No. 52 Vanderbilt avenue, New York City, can tell about an electric shovel that digs 15 cubic yards of earth at one bite. You can dig out another Lake Michigan with a tool like that. Given machinery, it is simple.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 7:24. Sun rises tomorrow 4:32.

New paper money, some smaller in size than our present currency, will appear about July 1. While smaller it will be just as hard to get and some will also keep it until the printing is worn or rotted off. Money was made to spend and when you see a dirty bill you know it has been going some.

People are like money—keep them busy or they'll lose interest.

Sunday School Teacher: But during those joyful festivities there was one I regret to say, who took no interest whatever in the proceedings and utterly refused to participate in the general rejoicing. He was not moved by the happiness of the father at the return of the wayward son and sulkily refused to unite in the merry-making. Can any one of you tell who this was?

Boy: Yes, sir. The fatted calf.

We demand a reform in the kind of clothes men wear—and seem to have to wear for fear of arrest. Women have the right idea by wearing hardly any and the police do not seem to notice it—oh yes, they notice it—but fear to make an arrest.

Hints and Dints man demands thinner clothes for men and less of it. We mean for summer, only, of course.

Women believe a secret keeps better when divided.

We have often wondered if we could ever be as optimistic about the success of many things as some people are and not do a thing to help do the things badly needed. Some birds just say, "Don't worry, it will come out all right," and then let other folks see that it does come out right. It's a mighty good thing there are some people who will still do and dare in spite of the street corner knockers and village senators.

"The devil celebrates in Hades every time a Christian preacher jumps from the pulpit into politics," remarked the old-fashioned parson as he folded up the church page and turned over for his afternoon nap.

Just common drunks do not add anything to any kind of a gathering—social or business.

It is predicted in financial circles that there will be no money pinch in June. If that is true June is going to stand out as a bright star in all the months so far this year.

"What do you do when your deferred payments come due?"
"Me? I defer paying them."

All we have to do with some people is to furnish them the money and they will look after the honors very nicely themselves. It's just wonderful how some people can spend money others give to them.

Take a tip from nature. Men's ears aren't made to shut—their mouth is.

While a stenographer in Pittsburgh was taking down the questions and answers between a prohibition officer and a bootlegger, the bootlegger grabbed the revenue chap by the throat and was on the way to ending him when the stenographer let out a yell that brought all the police and firemen in the ward. There are times when a yell is the best thing to have around. This one saved a perfectly good prohibition officer.

Never let a disappointment get into you—no matter how big it is. Carry on with a little way, but drop it soon.

How fine life seems when we have a good job and good health.

There never was an honorable sneak even if he was spying in an honorable cause. Most humans have no use for a sneak and spy of any kind. The reason for this is probably because no human is so pure that a sneak or spy could not get something on them. No brinks, please! We are including ourselves.

Uncertainty Still Surrounds Effect Of Rail Valuation Case

Supreme Court's Opinion That Cost Of Reproduction Must Be Considered Leaves Analysts Doubtful About Ultimate Results

Far-reaching principles and possibly many millions of dollars involved in the decision of the St. Louis and O'Fallon railroad valuation case caused the subject to attract the attention of the entire business world.

The initial interpretation of the United States supreme court's opinion was that it required valuation of railroad properties to be based on cost of reproduction, and this caused widespread fear of general increases in freight rates. Later, when it was found that cost of reproduction was to be only one factor in valuation, different views were expressed, with many analysts taking the position that the question of the decision's possible effect on rate-making is still very much in doubt.

One section of the press suggests the possibility of Congressional action. The PITTSBURGH POST-GAZETTE says: "With the Interstate Commerce Commission now revised in its valuation it erred in not taking present costs into consideration along with other pertinent facts, there is consternation among some. They fear that the railroads have been given a free hand for making their own valuation, with the effect of putting up rates. But there are two common-sense views that must prevail. Regrettable as it would be, if the large volume of work done by the commission in valuing railroad properties should be lost it obviously is paramount that right principles be followed. If an error was committed, there is nothing left to be done but to correct it. The second consideration is that if the situation demands it, Congress has a simple remedy for dealing with it through amendment or revision of the Transportation Act."

The prospect of intervention by Congress is suggested also by the CHICAGO DAILY NEWS, the BUFFALO EVENING NEWS and the ROCK ISLAND ARGUS. The LITTLE ROCK ARKANSAS DEMOCRAT maintains that "rates already are at the very top of what the traffic will bear," and the feeling that there will be no change in rates on account of the decision is voiced by the SEATTLE DAILY TIMES, the INDIANAPOLIS STAR and COLUMBUS OHIO STATE JOURNAL.

"Rates never can be based on more than the traffic will bear," declares the ST. LOUIS TIMES, while the BROOKLYN DAILY EAGLE argues that an effort at this time to bring a general increase in railroad rates would work to the detriment of the railroads." The FLINT DAILY JOURNAL points out that "the commission's work in making the valuation must be brought up to date, and this, it is estimated, will require at least three years."

What is more, the LOUISVILLE COURIER-JOURNAL feels that "it is not probable that the Supreme Court intends that there shall be a severe upward revision of the rate structure."

"No formula with physical valuation as its dominating factor, whether it be of original cost, or of reproduction cost," says the PHILADELPHIA EVENING BULLETIN, "has never produced a satisfactory result. The Supreme Court has at no time said that either is to be recognized as a controlling and positive factor. It is axiomatic that other factors must be taken into consideration. In the final analysis, the determination is as to a reasonable return on investment and that basic factor can most properly be determined by the records of original paid-in capital, of bond issues, and of the enterprise ploughed back into the enterprise instead of being distributed as dividends."

"The Interstate Commerce Commission," suggests the WASHINGTON EVENING STAR, "will probably proceed to its work of bringing valuation up to date on the basis of the preliminary valuation already done, and with regard to the points emphasized by the United States Supreme Court. The consideration of the court's decision, however, will be left to the lawyers. No one can tell now or attempt to predict the final effect on rates in general." The ROCKFORD WORLD-NEWS also concludes that the decision "seems to leave the final determination of this question in doubt."

It is assumed that there must be further appeals to the court in the valuation problem, by many papers, among them being the MADISON

WISCONSIN STATE JOURNAL, the PORT WATNE NEWS, SENTINEL, the KANSAS CITY JOURNAL-POST, the RICHMOND NEWS LEADER and the CLEVELAND NEWS.

"It is not expected," in the opinion of the PORT WORTH RECORD-TELEGRAM, "that any serious economic disturbance will follow the verdict, because of the attitude conveyed. The Interstate Commerce Commission will merely be compelled to broaden its scope of investigations to permit of the points laid down, after which the right of appeal will prevail as usual."

"The court has not required higher valuations," thinks the NEW YORK TIMES, "but merely full observance of the lawful method of ascertaining them. Its judgment that the commission had not adequately observed the law in that regard is based on formal statements of the commissioners themselves." The BALTIMORE SUN, however, contends: "The chief concern of the public is that the carriers shall be maintained on a financial basis that will attract to them what capital they need to enable them to take care of the transportation interests of the country. If the result of the O'Fallon decision is to expedite the scheme of railroad mergers, urged as an essential step in accomplishment of this aim while giving the public the benefits of better and more economical service, it will have done something to solve the railroad problem."

The CHARLESTON EVENING POST asks: "What guarantee is there that the railroads will not seek to take advantage of the decision to improve their earnings, or why, for that matter, shouldn't they?" A similar question as to possibilities is taken by the OMAHA WORLD-HERALD with the added suggestion that "the decision stands as an effective barrier against future demands for lower rates, and against the recapture of excess earnings by the government."

The ending of the year in the judgment of the PORTLAND OREGON JOURNAL, "will recall the Hoover proposal and policy for improvement of inland waterway transportation lines."

THE OLD MAN

As down the street a youngster ran. Although the path seemed wide. Today I saw a gray old man. Who smiled and stepped aside.

So strange his action seemed to me. I turned to him and said: "Why did you step aside, that he? So young, might run ahead?"

"For you the youngster should have stayed. And followed by your track." The old man answered: "I'm afraid I should have held him back."

"Time was that I was young and bold. And swiftly I could run. But now I'm slow of foot and old. And all my work is done."

"To notions of the past I'm tied. I've lived my little day. And now I'd rather step aside. Than block a youngster's way."

God grant to me so much of grace. When all my strength is gone. That I can smile and give my place To youngsters rushing on!

Glimpses Of Nature

By Owen Penfield Fox

A few days ago I was asked by a local bird lover, how he could get a pair of Blue Jays to make a home in his back yard. Perhaps you have wondered why so many of the beautiful birds you see do not build their homes near you.

In answer to his query, I said: "No doubt that you believe your garden or grounds are an ideal spot for them to nest. But if these surroundings have never been the nesting place of Blue Jays, Tanagers, Orioles, or numerous other birds, there is nothing you can do to attract them to build their nests, and abide with you."

You can build a feed box, and fill it with such place in a protective spot, then you will have many bird visitors that will stay with you a few days, then go. As the law of bird life is to return to the old breeding place.

If you watch, you will see that the Robin returns to his nest of last year or builds closely to it, and you will find another Robin's nest within a hundred yards of it.

In my back yard the Cat Birds have come again to the same bush, and if you will observe you will again find the Flicker back at the old maple.

In the woodlands a few miles from my home, where I often go to study bird life, I again find the nest of the Wood Thrush just as it has been for the past three years.

And I know where I can find the home of the King Bird in an old apple orchard, it is the region in which they were born. They never fail, unless some misfortune has happened to them they will be there. I shall write soon of the dangerous wing journeys of some of the beautiful birds who visit us each summer.

Life Tharp attempted suicide today after trying on a straw hat. I hate to see summer come 'cause it's so hard to find a doctor.

"THEY FLY SO HIGH—"
Gander had grown interested in the description of the swamp he loved so, but at this moment the Wild Geese interrupted his story, growing impatient at the delay.

"Oh, Wild Gander!" cried Peter in chorus, "isn't it time to fly?"

"And one day Goose added, 'Oh, boys, oh, boys, where do we go from here?'"

Father Wild Gander took the interruption good naturedly.

"When do we go? Right now!" declared he. "Where? To the southern swamps, if we have good luck. Come now, no more talking. Let's be up and doing. Everybody ready?"

"Ready," cried the Wild Geese. Tommy Gosling grew so excited that he fluttered about in the darkness and came very near to getting his tip tail feather into the boy's eyes. Peter was glad when Father Gander made his young son take his place in the flock and told Peter, himself, to take a seat among his warm feathers.

Then, just as he had done before, Gander gave the signal. "Go!"

Scarcely had his honk died away than the Geese were in the air. How they ever managed to clear the branches in the dark the boy never knew, but they were well out of the tree tops in no time.

Higher and higher they mounted, until it seemed to Peter they must be aiming for the stars. At least they reached the plane they were soaring toward and along the starlit path they flew as sure of their course as if it had been daylight on an open road.

It was not the first time that the boy had seen night riding under the stars, but certainly he had never been carried so fast or so far. He would have been stiff with the cold if it had not been for Wild Gander's thick feathers. At is was, Peter cuddled down among them and felt as snug as a bug in a rug.

"What a fine chance to count the stars! I shall never be as close to them again," thought he and he started in.

"One, two, ten twenty!" Peter didn't get much farther before he just couldn't keep track of them at all. "What was the matter with the stars, anyhow? They were growing tinier and tinier? Where was that old moon? It must have slipped beneath a cloud. Oh, well, he wasn't going to look for it. He was too comfortable to move his head."

Next: "Sound Asleep in a Flying Feather Bed."

Everybody avoided Bill...until he overcame "B.O."

BILL was no mind-reader. But he could see that Joan wasn't enjoying this try into town.

Why is she edging away? he wondered. Then he saw the newspaper headline—"Hotter weather here—lookout for 'B.O.'"

Body odor—was that his trouble? Read Bill's own answer.

Keeps perspiration odorless "Tricky 'B.O.' it fooled me all right."

"Yes, I perspired. But in a healthy, normal way. I didn't notice any unpleasantness."

"Now I realize that we become insensitive to ever-present odors; that pores constantly give off odor-causing waste—just as much as a day, and the hotter the weather the more we offend."

"So it's Lifebuoy for me always—and no 'B.O.' worries. Its purifying action keeps the body fresher. I've removed cigarette odors from the fingers."

"We all think Lifebuoy's a fine skin soap, too—a real safeguard against disease germs. Lifebuoy's pleasant, extractable scent that vanishes as you rinse, tells you it purifies."

Fenn Bill Now Ready For Vote

House To Vote Tomorrow On Reapportionment Of Congress Measure

BILL DEFEATED IN SENATE VOTE

WASHINGTON, June 3.—The fight of 6,000,000 votes to representation in the American congress today became the storm center of the fight in the House over the Fenn bill providing for a reapportionment of membership of that body to meet the steady shift in population from farm to city.

Decisively defeated in the Senate last week and beaten in the House in the last congress, forces arrayed against reapportionment on the population showed in the 1929 census raised the cry that the Fenn bill will transfer congressmen from the "typically American" states of the west and south and give them to the great foreign population of the cities.

Final Vote Friday
A final vote is set for tomorrow. Under the bill, the House membership would be retained at 433, but it would be reapportioned among the states on the 1930 census, and the states would then divide the congressional districts according to population.

The inevitable result, it is declared, is to greatly increase the representation of the cities in congress, which has been denied them despite a constitutional mandate for reapportionment every 10 years.

WELL KNOWN TEACHER GETS EMERITUS RANK

THIEL COLLEGE CAMPUS—DR. T. B. ROTH

One of the high spots in the Thiel College Commencement exercises this year is the tribute which will be paid to Dr. T. B. Roth, who for forty years has been connected with the college and who has been made Professor Emeritus of Latin and Religion. The Grand Old Man of Thiel was selected to preach the Sunday Baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class of 1929, and will be tendered a luncheon on Monday (June 3) by faculty and alumni. Dr. Roth is known to practically every Lutheran congregation in the Pittsburgh Synod. When Thiel College was founded 55 years ago in Greenville, Pa., T. B. Roth was a member of the first freshman class. He was graduated in 1874. The only other living member of that first class is John R. Bott of Greensburg. After the seminary, Dr. Roth went to Utica, N. Y., where he founded the Church of the Redeemer. After a number of years in the ministry he returned to Thiel which he has served for forty years in the capacities of tutor, professor, and president. He is one of the most beloved teachers of Thiel and is held in veneration by a host of alumni.

Dr. T. B. Roth is shown here inserted in Brother Martin's Walk, a famous avenue of maple trees, which extends the entire length of the campus. Fifty-five years ago Dr. Roth was a member of the committee which planted this memorial of beauty. Down this pathway, leading to a grove of oaks, the Senior class will march on Wednesday, June 3, and receive their diplomas.

Farmer Kills Big Hawk, Fox Is Found Victim

GISTERVILLE, W. Va., June 3.—Charles Wines, a farmer, saw a large hawk soaring around near his chicken coop here.

He grabbed a shotgun and fired at the bird.

The fox was dead when it hit the ground.

Correct this sentence: "When a car honks to pass me," said the village cut-up, "I never step on 'er."

What Dr. Caldwell Learned in 47 Years Practice

Dr. Caldwell watched the results of constipation for 47 years, and believed that no matter how careful people are of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time regardless of how much one tries to avoid it. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. Dr. Caldwell always was in favor of getting as close to nature as possible, hence his remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It can not harm the most delicate system and is not a habit forming preparation. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it. It does not gripe. Thousands of mothers have written us to that effect.

Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic physics and purges. He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their system. In a practice of 47 years he never saw any reason for their use when a medicine like Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly, more cleanly and gently without gripping and harm to the system.

Keep free from constipation! It robs your strength, hardens your arteries and brings on premature old age. Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and

COOKS FIND NEW VALUE OF SUGAR

Vegetables More Delicious When Cooked New Way

Two groups of women, all famous cooking experts, recently conducted a series of tests to find the most tasteful way of preparing vegetable dishes. In every case, after the various ways of cooking vegetables were tried, the experts unanimously voted in favor of using only a little water and adding sugar in cooking vegetables.

One group of experts recommends this unusual recipe for baked apples and onions. Slice 3 medium-size apples and six medium-size onions into a greased casserole in alternate layers, seasoning with salt, pepper, ½ cup of sugar, and 2 table spoons butter. Add ½ cup water and bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) about ¾ of an hour.

The sugar adds not only to the taste but also to the food and energy value of the vegetables, so that they are not only valuable vitamin foods, but foods that furnish working power to the individual. Use a liberal dash of sugar, depending on the quantity cooked, with peas, lima beans, string beans, corn, carrots, beets, parsnips, sweet potatoes, squash, onions and tomatoes. Good food promotes good health. The Sugar Institute.

Days' Prayer In Congress

Bishop William F. McDowell of the Methodist Episcopal church offered the following prayer:

Almighty God for this morning we ask of Thee the privilege of coming before Thee with our personal wants and necessities, our sins, our cares, our anxieties and we ask also that we may bring before Thee our families and their interests and concerns. There are those of us here who are trying bravely to do our public duty, carrying all the time personal griefs and cares and burdens. There are those who have come this morning from homes of sickness and sorrow. Faces rise before us and names leap to our lips as we pray, O Lord, our Father, think of us this morning as a company of thy children, with all of the cares and trials and temptations and burdens that belong to us just as human beings. Help us to bear them all; help us to go about our tasks today without a whimper; help us, O God, to live as becomes the children of God. Give peace to those for whom we pray. Give comfort to those who are ill and comfort to those who are bereaved. We bring our personal lives before Thee this morning O God, our Father, and we ask Thee to bless us for Thy name's sake. Amen.

Girl Driver Is Placed In Lockup

GREENSBURG, Pa., June 3.—Helen Strump Garbutt, 17, of Braden-

reckless driving and with operating a motor vehicle without a license. Miss Garbutt, while driving through Latrobe streets last evening completely smashed a roadster, ruined a sedan parked along the street and badly wrecked the car.

St. J. Dugman of Enon Valley, reported to the police Saturday night while in a store here, about nine o'clock, someone had stolen his billfold from his left hand back man's pocket. The billfold contained about $32, owners cards for a passenger car and a truck and his driver's license.

CERTIFICATE of QUALITY

backed by a $1000 Surety Bond.

... "and now I'm glad both the Dealer and Builder insisted!"

"Yes, sir, it's a mighty comfortable feeling to know that your home is well built—that only the best of materials were used. I must confess that both the lumber dealer and the builder had a pretty difficult task getting me to specify CERTIFIED MATERIAL throughout the structure."

"But after they explained that CERTIFIED MATERIAL meant that every item was guaranteed by a $1000 Surety Bond—I felt that I could be sure of getting just the grade, specie and quality of the materials that I specified."

"Then, too, my Certificate of Quality helped me at the bank. After I explained that we were building with Bonded Building Materials and showed my Certificate of Quality listing all the materials used—their grade, quality and so forth—my banker had no hesitance whatever in loaning me more than I had originally asked for! Can you blame me for spreading the 'good news' of 'Certified Material' to all my friends?"

To prospective home builders who are, perhaps, confused by assurances of superior merit on every side, it is comforting to know that by specifying CERTIFIED MATERIAL they can be sure of quality building materials and higher resale and loan value. Enjoy the security that the use of Certified Material affords.

King George Unable To Attend Trooping Of Colors Program

King George Celebrates Sixty Fourth Birthday In Bed With Abscess Of Side

Duke Of Connaught Takes Place Of King In Reviewing Stand; Prince On Parade

(International News Service) LONDON, June 3.—In a beautiful ceremony marked only by the absence of the man in whose honor it was held, the annual trooping of the colors in recognition of King George's birthday took place on the Horse Guards' parade here today.

Sixteen hundred picked troops took part in the display while King George, who is known to enjoy this ceremony perhaps more than any other of the colorful functions he has to attend, was in bed at Windsor castle suffering from an abscess in the right side of his chest.

The Duke of Connaught uncle of the king, who recently returned from his villa on the Riviera, deputized for the king, often described as the finest physical specimens in the entire royal family the 79-year old duke presented an inspiring picture as he watched the display held in honor of his ailing nephew's 64th birthday.

Prince on Hand.

The Prince of Wales, in the uniform of the guards as well as the Duke of York were present for the ceremony.

The trooping of the colors is held each year in the great parade grounds back of Whitehall and familiar to most American visitors to London by the two seemingly immovable guardsmen who sit on equally immovable black horses at the front entrance. Grandstands are built to accommodate the huge crowd which invariably turns out for this function, one of the most picturesque military maneuvers performed in this country.

The king although rather an indifferent horseman, has always attended his birthday ceremony except when pressure of state duties has been away because of illness.

Officers of the Guard were keenly disappointed over his majesty's inability to be present for the highly technical maneuvers carried out in the course of trooping the colors are practiced each year with a great deal of care so that the result obtained is like clockwork in its precision.

HIGH SCHOOL SENIORS HEAR REV. MAXWELL GIVE BACCALAUREATE

the class since the seniors had selected him to preach their baccalaureate, and it was with pleasure that he was preaching it.

The Square of Success

"The Square of Success" is the subject upon which I wish to speak tonight," said the minister, "because a successful life is built upon four great foundation walls. I will speak of those four walls tonight.

"Success," he continued, "is a magic word. I make no apology for talking about it this evening. Though not found in the New Testament, it is a Christian word when rightly understood; for it is a great human word. The desire for success beats in every normal human breast. It is the high objective of every human effort, the active agent in every accomplishment, and the motive power in all true progress.

The speaker then went on to define what actual success means, not merely material success, and then launched into the four walls upon which he based his sermon.

Foundation Walls

"The first foundation wall, the first great affirmative is this: 'I am.' What are you? Of what quality is your being? Self-respect is the fundamental to great living and great achievement. The whole tone and quality of your life is determined by your estimate of yourself.

"I can" is another wall upon which a successful life must be built. What is to enable you to say 'I can.' If I were talking mere material success tonight I would stress personal ability and technical training. But the true success of which I am talking tonight concerns itself with different factors than these. John and James answered, 'We can.' And the glorious thing about that answer is that they were able. To you more than any other young people in the world is material success a probability. Then here is the question: 'Are you able to drink the honey cup of conquest and keep your head?'

Third Wall

Then Rev. Maxwell mentioned the third, "I ought." He said that he is convinced that your success is dependent upon your response to this sense of obligation. Your success depends not only upon your estimate of yourself, and upon the knowledge of your own ability, but also upon the character and number of the obligations that you acknowledge.

Finally, the last assertion and wall upon which a success may be assured is 'I will.' The I am, I can and the I ought are only valuable as success foundations when buttressed and supplemented by the declaration, 'I will.' The greatest gift of God to man for the battle of life is the power to make moral choices. There is nothing that dignifies man more than freedom to determine the road his soul will take through life.

Members of the graduating class, as you go out into life with its problems, temptations, defeats and victories—go out with Him as your guide and counselor, your strength and your friend, who ended his journey at the right hand of God."

Rev. Porter Assists

Assisting Rev. Maxwell during the evening was Rev. Jesse B. Porter, pastor of the Central Christian church.

Rev. Porter offered the invocation, read the Scripture lesson from Second Corinthians 12:17, and First Corinthians 13:10-14. Rev. Porter also made an inspiring prayer and pronounced the benediction.

The senior high school choir, composed of members of the graduating class, sang two selections, "Praise the Lord" and "I Have Called, O God, Upon Thee." Miss Hazel Campbell and Herbert Smith, members of the choir, sang a duet entitled "My Days Are in His Hands."

Two hundred and twenty-one members of the Senior class, in cap and gown, slowly entered the auditorium as the high school orchestra played the recessional, "Triumphal March from Aida."

Prof. F. L. Orth, principal of the high school, led the class, with Otto Pearsall, president, immediately following. The recessional march was also played by the orchestra and the seniors passed quietly out of the auditorium while the audience remained seated.

The program of the baccalaureate and the members of the choir follow:

Processional—"Triumphal March from Aida" by Verdi—Senior high school orchestra.

Invocation—Rev. J. B. Porter, pastor of the Central Christian church.

"Praise the Lord" by F. C. Maker—Senior high school choir.

Baccalaureate sermon—Rev. S. L. Maxwell.

One Lone Negro Bandit Makes

ATTEMPTED TO ROB WHEELING POOL ROOM

(International News Service)
WHEELING, W. Va., June 3.—A lone negro, sole survivor of a negro bandit gang that elected to "shoot it out" with police here, was being sought by authorities today, the aftermath of a successful hold-up of one poolroom and the frustrated stick-up of another yesterday.

Jesse Williams, 20, and Lee White, 40, both of Detroit, were shot and killed in a gun duel with police while attempting to hold up a South Wheeling poolroom. Ralph Parker of Swissham, Pa., third member of the bandit group, was captured and the other escaped. In the exchange of shots Officer Otis Galentine was wounded in the leg but dragged himself to where his assailant had hidden in a parked automobile and opened fire, killing the negro instantly.

Parker is said to have told police that the four men met in Detroit several days ago, where the idea of a "hold-up band" was conceived. They drove to Homestead, he said, where a speakeasy was chosen as the band's headquarters.

Yesterday's attempted hold-up was the group's first effort, he said. Police are checking up on Parker's story.

YOUTH KILLED AS LIQUOR RUNNER

Intense Feeling Prevails In Abingdon Virginia As Trials Start Today

(International News Service)
ABINGDON, Va., June 3.—A tense feeling pervaded this little community, nestled in the Cumberland Mountains, today as three county officers went on trial for murder in the killing of J. M. Kendrick, a college youth, because they suspected he had liquor in his automobile or had been drinking.

The officer trio, James Crowe, William Worley, and J. W. McReynolds, started firing at the youth's automobile when he refused their command to halt at night on a lonely mountain road. Kendrick's companions said he did not stop because he thought the officers were hold-up men. No liquor was found in the car.

From out in the forks of the creeks, which have harbored stills for a century and where "revenuers" are still immensely unpopular, the hill folk drifted into town today to witness the novel spectacle of the three enforcement agents standing trial for their lives. They are charged with first degree murder, and so intense is public feeling that the hitching-rack betting was there will be one or more convictions, although the degree may be changed.

Fine Legal Talent
It is eloquent testimony to the state of public feeling that the enforcement agents were seen in Abingdon today for the first time since the killing. They have been sequestered in the mountains for weeks for fear of violence.

To the regular prosecution staff today was added Peter J. Davenport, dean of the criminal bar in southwest Virginia, retained by friends of the slain youth and to be paid by popular subscription. The officers will be defended by George M. Warren, a well known criminal lawyer in this section.

The little courtroom quickly filled with spectators. Twenty gentlemen were called in the first panel, and the court must ultimately select a venire of twenty prospective jurors unchallenged for cause.

The defense and state will then use peremptory challenges for four each, leaving twelve in the box.

A quick trial was in prospect for the facts are pretty generally known, and the witnesses are comparatively few.

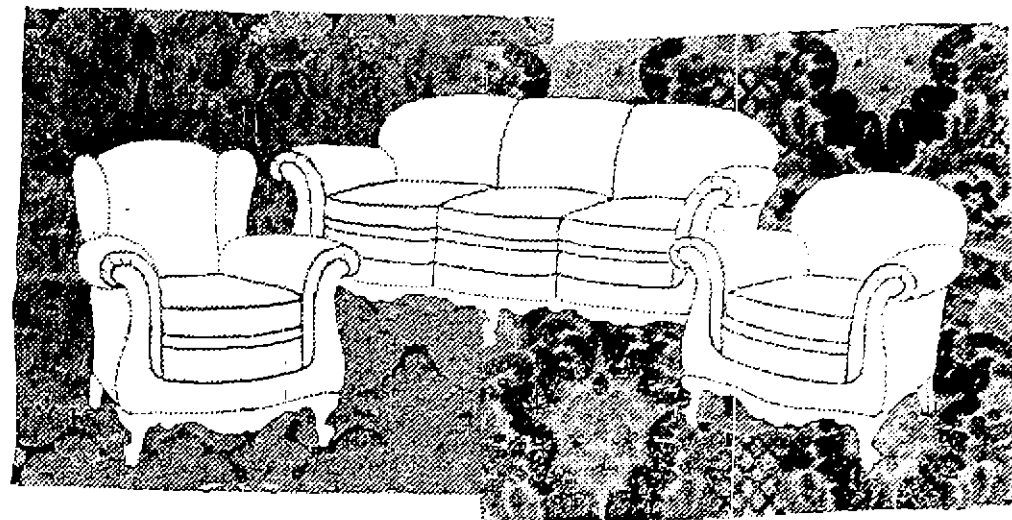

Shoaf Is Appointed
Foreman Of Jury

A Clyde Shoaf was made foreman of the grand jury which convened at the court house this morning. Only one juror, C. R. Fulkerson, Jr., of the sixth ward, was excused. Immediately after receiving instructions from the court the grand jury went into session for the consideration of bills to be presented to District Attorney J. Elder Bryan. List of cases for the grand jury is smaller than usual and there are no very serious charges.

Find Rural Boxes Need Fresh Paint

Most Boxes Are In Good Condition Except For Need Of White Paint

OFFICIALS END TOUR OF RURAL DISTRICTS

That the majority of mail boxes along rural routes served by the New Castle postoffice are in need of fresh coats of white paint is the conclusion that Postmaster E. W. Crawford and James G. Lessie, assistant postmaster, have reached following the annual rural route inspection which culminated this week.

According to the two officials this is the worst irregularity in the rural mail boxes along the routes today.

The majority of the boxes are in fine condition. Assistant Leslie remarked, "as far as their physical appearance is concerned. But many of them should be repainted."

The annual check is conducted throughout the United States on instructions from departmental headquarters at Washington, D. C. Patrols are given due notice if their boxes fail to comply with the required regulations and if they fail to act following the notice a report of such is sent to Washington.

Asked as to whether or not the patrolmen comply with the orders the authorities give, Mr. Leslie said the greater portion do. There are some who are hesitant and slow to act, but this seldom continues for long once instructions reach them from the office of the postmaster general at Washington.

New boxes which will provide ample space for parcels are to be used in replacement or where new routes are established and where extensions are made to existing routes after July 1. The department will require that where the old boxes are still in good repair the new boxes will not be demanded.

While making the trip over the Lawrence county routes this week Postmaster Crawford and Mr. Leslie inspected boxes some of which had no signals some where the box was not facing the road and where the approaches to the boxes were not properly graded. Instructions are to be given to the responsible patrons so that necessary repairs can be made.

CLAIMS WAY IT BENEFITED HER WAS WONDERFUL

New Castle Lady Declares Ten Herbs Swept Away Long-Standing Ills.

Results—not exaggerated claims and promises—are what count, and that is why Ten Herbs, the famous new herbal medicine, is meeting with tremendous success throughout this entire section, for everyone who reads the local newspaper must know what satisfying and even amazing results men and women of this locality are deriving from this compound, in cases of long-standing disorders of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. Ten Herbs consists of ten wonderful natural ingredients, which cleanse and tone up the whole human system and relieve rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness.

Ten Herbs gave me wonderful relief," was the recent statement of Mrs. Mary Oliver, 341 King Street, New Castle. "For a long time I had suffered from nervousness and terrible headaches. Food did not agree with me, and formed gas, which at times caused pains around my heart. My tongue was always coated, and my skin was scaly. I felt as tired in the morning as if I had done a hard day's work. Constipation troubled me a great deal. My kidneys were in bad condition. There were severe pains across my back and I had to arise several times every night.

"A friend recommended Ten Herbs to me. I started using your medicine, and now I am not the least bit nervous, and those headaches have been relieved. My appetite has improved. Gas no longer forms on my stomach, and the pains around my heart have ceased. My tongue is clear, and I have better complexion. Constipation has been wonderfully overcome. The pains have left my back. I enjoy a good night's rest and am refreshed when I get up in the morning. I feel like an entirely different woman. I gladly recommend Ten Herbs to my friends and the public."

Let Ten Herbs cleanse your whole system—drive out poisonous waste matter, impurities and troublesome gas. Let it enrich your blood, improve your appetite, restore natural sleep, and bring new feeling of health and strength in general.

Ten Herbs is being introduced at Becker's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington Street, this city, and is sold at all drug and medicine stores throughout this entire section.

to the regular exhibits arrangements have been made with Nathan R. Butler, commissioner of fisheries, for a permanent fish exhibit in the front part of the building.

Three Hundred At St. Vitus Get First Communion

Close to three hundred boys and girls of the St. Vitus church congregation received first communion on Sunday morning. The special mass for the occasion was celebrated by Fathers DeMita and McNamany.

A large crowd watched the children assemble the altar for the first time to receive the first holy communion and the scene was very impressive. The children were dressed very neatly and the church altar was decorated very beautifully to add color to the affair. After the mass pictures were taken.

COST OF LIVING.

Recent figures must convince us despite the size of the monthly bills that the cost of living has gone down. We buy more luxuries than ever before but the cost of food and the actual necessities do not hit the average family so hard as it did in the disastrously high price period shortly after the war. And the increase in wages has more than kept pace with the cost of living. It is true that for what cost one dollar in 1914 we now pay $1.64 but it is also true that for every dollar in wages received in 1914 the wage-earner now gets $2.31. Frequently we turn back to the old days when a lot's gone there. He misunderstood and his wife repeated her phrase louder, 23 cents. And yet unknown to many there are restaurants today furnishing a meal for 35 cents. If we are "broke" today it is largely because we overbuy on luxuries.

LUXURIES.

Speaking of luxuries it is a bit hard to discover where the necessity leaves off and the luxury begins. Automobiles not long ago were ranked as luxuries. With new conditions of living the increased size of cities, new business and new competition automobiles for thousands are necessities. Even the possession of two cars may rank as a necessity.

SATURATION.

Producers do not need to fear saturation of the market when they learn that only 30 per cent of American homes have radios, only 50 per cent of homes have washing machines, only 50 per cent of homes have electric refrigerators. And as for motor car saturation no danger of that so long as man's imagination is such that he wants a new car every time a new model comes out whether he needs it or not.

A BAD MARK.

Unquestionably a bad mark is set against us by the great poet of India, Tagore. He cancelled his tour in the United States. Later in Japan, he says the reason he left the United States was because of the atmosphere of suspicion and inviolability which was evident to him as soon as he crossed the border from Canada. This news item may not attract a great deal of attention but it is important. The United States is not yet a grown-up nation if it is not internationally-minded enough to recognize worth in whatever part of color or creed.

NEW IDEAS.

Somebody says there are no new ideas. He wasn't well acquainted with modern publicity and advertising men. A New York motion picture house wasn't doing well. An advertising man was called in. He hired 30 old couples to sit in nearby restaurants and appear to be deaf. The old gentleman carried out trumpets. This is the way it worked. The old lady shouted into his ear trumpet so that everybody the Singlap car. The body was removed to the Beigler morgue in Zeligoropol.

VENERABLE JURIST DIES AT AGE OF 86

WASHINGTON, Pa., June 3.—Judge J. A. McIlvaine, 86, died of acute indigestion yesterday in the Hillview sanatorium here, where he had made his home for several years. Judge McIlvaine had been in good health despite his years and last Monday participated in the ceremonies attending the induction of Judge Howard W. Hughes as a second additional law judge in Washington county.

Judge McIlvaine served as a common pleas court judge in this country for 35 consecutive years, retiring about six years ago.

CRASH FATAL TO PASSENGER IN CAR

NEW BRIGHTON, Pa., June 3.—William Revel, 76, of Harmony, Pa., died in the Beaver Valley hospital here from a fractured skull and other injuries suffered in a collision between two automobiles in Fifth avenue. Chief of Police Fred Kirkpatrick has made information against Attorney John A. Elliott, Beaver Falls, and H. A. Singlap, Detroit, Mich., drivers of the colliding cars. Hearings will be held Thursday evening before Justice of the Peace Walter Lewis.

An inquest by Coroner Harry C. McCarter will probably be held at the same time. Revel was a passenger in

BIG INCREASE IN DRY FINES IN PENNSYLVANIA

(Special To The News)
WASHINGTON, June 3.—Fines imposed in federal courts of Pennsylvania for prohibition violations were approximately tripled, convictions for such offenses increased nearly two and a half times, and prohibition violation cases instituted in such courts increased about fifty percent during the first six months of the present fiscal year as compared with the corresponding half year of the fiscal year of 1928, a report made today by the department of justice reveals.

During the first half of the present fiscal year, 1,005 prohibition violation cases were instituted in the federal courts of the State as against only 720 such cases instituted in the first half of the last fiscal year.

Convictions in such cases numbered 729 and fines imposed by the federal courts of Pennsylvania totaled $150,772 in the first six months of this year as compared with only 272 convictions and fines of $54,185 by the same courts during the first half of the 1928 fiscal year.

Unlike convictions and fines in Pennsylvania, convictions and fines in the country over showed a decline during the six month period of this year. However, the cases of prohibition violation instituted in all the federal courts of the nation increased from 25,677 in the 1928 fiscal year to 37,555 cases for the same six month period of the present fiscal year.

Y.M.C.A. To Teach Boys How To Swim

Free Swimming Campaign Will Open At Local Institution On June 10

In the neighborhood of 500 boys are expected to take advantage of the opportunity of learning how to swim in the Y. M. C. A.'s annual Free Swimming Campaign, which will open at the local Y. pool on June 10.

In past years, the New Castle Y. M. C. A. has tried to get more boys interested in the campaign, and the registration has grown each year. This year is expected to prove no exception and a great many youths of the city who do not know how to swim are expected in the class.

The Y. M. C. A. realizes that half the pleasure of a boy's life is to learn how to swim and enjoy himself in cool refreshing waters. If a boy does not learn how to swim when he has the opportunity, the possibility is that he will never learn later in life.

No other sport is so beneficial from a health standpoint, as swimming. Swimming brings more muscles into play than most any other sport, and because of the deep breathing involved, it is unexcelled in stimulating and developing lung capacity.

While taking instruction, the boys will be under the supervision of the most competent instructors in the city, who know and realize the needs of a real American boy.

There is a coupon in this issue of The News which the boys can cut out and bring or send to the Y. M. C. A.

Plans for the testimonial dinner to be held Friday evening, June 7, in the Elk's Home in honor of Captain M. L. Craig, officer in charge of the Reserve Officers work in this section for the past four years, are now being completed.

While the affair is being held under the auspices of Shenango Valley Chapter, Reserve Officers Association, it is designed as a public demonstration of appreciation on the part of all his friends here.

Persons interested in attending should get in touch with John D. Kennedy at the People's Savings and Trust Company at once, so that reservations may be made. The present indications are that a large number of his friends will be present.

Jordan State Game Farm Results Are Satisfactory

(From News Bureau)
(State Capital)
HARRISBURG, June 3.—Satisfactory results are being obtained by the State Game commission of its Jordan game farm at New Castle, R. D. The site of this farm was acquired last year by the commission and immediately converted into a propagation center.

Attendants at the farm have been receiving on an average of 250 pheasant eggs daily the commission has been told. It was the intention of the officials to keep 4500 eggs at the Jordan game farm for hatching purposes and send about 12,000 eggs to the refuge keepers.

The farm in Lawrence county was among the very first acquired by the game commission. About the same time as title was taken to the one near New Castle the commission also purchased a farm in Montgomery county. These two tracts were purchased to follow out the commission's plan for extensive propagation of game throughout the state.

Union High Seniors Hear Rev. McClure

Large Crowd At Presbyterian Church Where Baccalaureate Is Held

THIRTY IN CLASS TO BE GRADUATED

Thirty Union High school seniors who will be graduated next Thursday night heard of the value of a good name when the baccalaureate services for their class occurred in the First Presbyterian church here Sunday evening.

The church was filled to capacity with parents and friends of the seniors and members of the congregation.

The pastor, Dr. W. E. McClure was the speaker. For his subject he took "The Value of a Good Name," and chose his text from Proverbs 22:1.

In his introduction, Rev. McClure explained that some people live down through the ages with good names, and others with bad ones. He said that those with good reputations are exceedingly fortunate.

Through four ways he said a good name might be acquired, and these he said are first, wisdom; second, work; third, words, and fourth worship. Rev. McClure dwelt on each, saying in the end that without worship, without confession in Christ, no good name driven for would never be acquired. In closing he urged each to keep their good names and pleaded for each to strive for an even better one.

Last night's program follows:
Organ prelude "Overture to Mignone"
Baccalaureate processionals march led by Prof. R. P. Conway, principal and Miss Mildred Eppinger.

Wright Is Surprised At Changes In Far West

Writing from Wyoming, where he is making a visit after many years, Arthur Wright, a resident of the county, near Lovellville, tells of some interesting scenes in the west of today, as compared with the west he knew in the past. He writes:

June, Wyo., May 26, 1929.
Mr. George Conway,
Editor, News:

In midst of change we live. Over thirty years ago I traveled eastward over the same route followed by the Lincoln highway, with a team and wagon from Old Fort Pittman, Wyo., to Dunlap, Iowa.

The first part of my trip I traveled the same route by auto. If I could describe the changes that have taken place, so others could see it as I saw it, I believe it would be interesting to many. But there is the rub. I could not be so exacting as a young man from a lush taxed Pennsylvania farm. But would be recording fact checks from some newspaper feature syndicate.

If you are ever thinking of driving over this highway through the city of Omaha, my advice is don't. But get a map of the city and drive through the less traveled streets in the north part of the city and pick it up on the west side. It is mighty small portions for a city as great and large as Omaha to have it routed out the way to pass over the busiest and most congested streets in the city in small town fashion. But otherwise it is no mean city. And has increased in size and importance similar to Detroit, Akron and Cleveland. And extends now south to the river and far many miles over the road that once followed into town by the signs telling that it was so many miles to Mrs. P. Benson's store in North Omaha.

No state in the Union has increased in wealth like Nebraska unless it is Oklahoma. The farm buildings have been replaced with as good or better ones than you see in Iowa. The bridges over the Platte river built on piles about two feet above the high water mark with worn out plank about ten feet wide with a place to pass in the middle—have been replaced with substantial cement ones and are ten times more numerous. The improvement and increase of wealth is even more marked as you go west. The town of Mitchell increased from a straggled hamlet of a few shacks to a fine town with brick blocks with population of 2,500. The streets in this town are paved.

The modern city of Scotts Bluff, the largest shipping point for potatoes in the U. S. and perhaps the known world did not have any existence. I did not see but one Sod house and it was in a group of very fine ranch buildings and was evidently preserved for the sentiment of the thing. Once it was about all there was in Nebraska west of the sand hills. And the man that had his white washed or plastered was an aristocrat. I was disappointed to find the home and 3,000 acre ranch of W. J. Cody, at North Platte, Nebraska, sold and cut up. It was one of the show places of the west. Lying in the forks of the South and North Platte; with immense meadows of alfalfa; stocked with fine horses and cattle and some buffaloes.

The Buffalo Bill tourist camp is on a part of it. I inquired at the filling station what had become of the family. The man in charge did not know and referred me to the owner of the camp. He was away, and his wife said she believed Mrs. Cody and one daughter were living some place in Wyoming. On my suggestion, she said yes that was the place. I finally found an old man who had worked on the place and knew what had become of the other daughter. But did not know what had become of the son—such is fame. But he remembered of the manager of the place selling a couple of poor humped up jersey calves for a good price to the owner of a small show that had come to town for a Buffalo drive. With the assurance the things on their backs would grow as they became older.

ARTHUR WRIGHT.

Asks Merchants To Mail Survey Blanks

Government Credit Survey Blanks Should Be Mailed At Once

There are still a number of merchants and other business men of the city and county who have not yet mailed their credit questionnaire back to the United States Department of Commerce, state Ray H. Hall, manager of the New Castle Credit Exchange and key man of the government for this district.

This survey is nation wide and is attempting to discover new facts in credit throughout the entire country. Mr. Hall of the local exchange was appointed by the department to handle the work here in the county. Blanks were mailed out some time ago to all business men with the request that they be filled in and returned.

According to word received from the Department of Commerce by Mr. Hall today, there are a number of merchants who have failed to return the blanks.

Letters are being mailed out to these persons and the local credit bureau is asking that co-operation be lent in the survey.

Stern, president, Barney Balaban and other officials of the Balaban and Katz Corporation operating motion picture theatres, were given by corporation counsel Samuel Etelson to City Prosecutor Peska here today when the men indicated they would not end the appearances of 4-year-old Davy Lee, child film star, on the stage of one of their theatres.

Negelman pleaded guilty to conspiracy to violating the liquor laws and was sentenced to serve two years in the penitentiary.

Former New Castle Youth, Now Morals Judge Frames New "Ten Commandments"

Friends of A. D. Brandon, former New Castle resident, but now on the bench of Pittsburgh morals court, where he has served for three years, has evolved a set of "Ten Commandments" for husbands and wives as a result of hearing over 30,000 cases of domestic infidelity. Here they are:

- FOR WIVES
- 1—Don't nag. If you have a fault to find, tell your husband, and after you have unburdened your mind don't refer to it again.
  - 2—If you drink with your husband don't find fault with him if he drinks to excess.
  - 3—Argue with your husband as rarely as possible. He has had so many arguments at work that he craves rest at home.
  - 4—A budget system is an excellent thing for the home. Insist on sufficient money to run the household, and then do not be wasteful.
  - 5—If you have had a quarrel with your husband, do not go to sleep at night without making up. Tomorrow everything will be different.
  - 6—Insist on being well dressed within your income. If your husband cannot afford to spend as much as you expect, do not make him feel badly by scolding him about it.
  - 7—Go out often with your husband. You both need recreation at times, and it will improve your disposition.
  - 8—Don't be afraid to praise your husband. He will like it and love you all the more for it.
- FOR HUSBANDS
- 1—Don't be a fault finder. A little praise now and then will be appreciated by your wife.
  - 2—Be master of your own home. Don't let your "in-laws" interfere with your domestic affairs.
  - 3—Remember your wife's birthdays and your joint anniversaries. Don't stuff all feelings of sentiment.
  - 4—In all things be frank and honest even though it hurts. The truthful man has nothing to fear.
  - 5—Don't cheat. Be as true to your wife as you expect her to be to you.
  - 6—Keep away from strong drink. Moonie, gin and bonded liquors are all the same, and the hobgoblins will get you if you don't watch out.
  - 7—When you are in fault acknowledge it. Your wife will respect you all the more.
  - 8—Share each others burdens. Sootie and comfort each other in affliction and sickness.
  - 9—Live within your income. Plan with your wife how to make it go as far as possible.
  - 10—Take your wife to the theater as often as you can afford. A diversion from her household duties, it will raise her spirits.

Cleveland Girl Believed Slain

Former Teacher And Government Found Dead In Detroit Hotel Room

DETROIT, June 3.—Discovery of the body of Miss Mary Lee, 27, of New York, with her neck broken in a hotel here late yesterday caused detectives to investigate the possibility of murder.

Miss Lee, a graduate of Wellesley and former college athlete, had been in the city with a magazine canvassing crew employed by a Cleveland firm. She was the daughter of W. B. Lee, New York construction engineer. She formerly was employed as a school teacher in an orphan asylum near Cleveland, and for a time was a governess in a prominent Cleveland family.

The possibility of murder did not enter the case until several hours after the body was found by a hotel maid who said she had entered the room several times, but thought Miss Lee was sleeping.

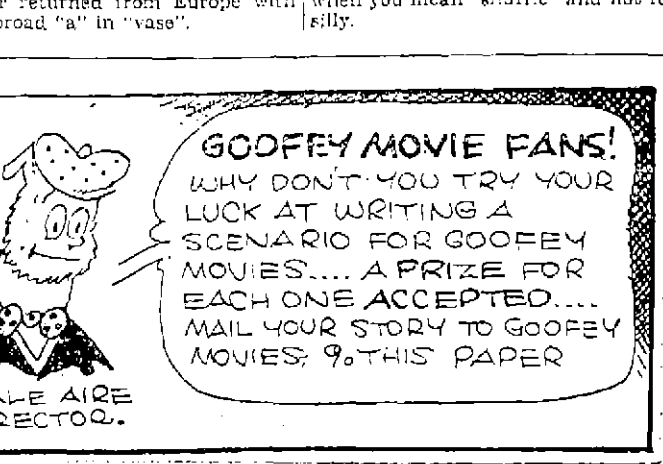

The woman's hands were found tightly over her breast and she seemed to be smiling in her sleep. The bed was unruined, with the sheets still tucked in around the sides.

After it was discovered Miss Lee was dead, a police surgeon made a cursory examination and declared death was due to heart disease. A later examination, however, disclosed bruise on the face and throat and a broken neck with a traumatic hemorrhage, which indicated the fracture occurred before death.

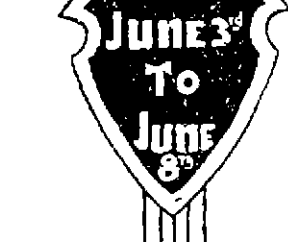

Deputy Coroner C. T. Earl said the investigation would be continued on the theory that Miss Lee was murdered, although Miss Lee's mother, who arrived here today, expressed the belief that convulsions caused the young woman's death.

Mrs. Lee said her daughter had been subject to convulsions since she suffered an attack of meningitis five years ago.

Former Teacher Bequeaths $30,000 to Stop Spanking

Was Himself Abused as Pupil in Grade Schools

THE late E. S. Alexander, who left his $30,000 estate to the public schools of Greenwood, Arkansas, made the provision, however, that spanking of pupils should never be permitted.

"I'll be glad to give all my money, but you mustn't spank the school kids!"

This legacy, therefore, makes the scholastic halls of Greenwood schools safe for hooky-playing, paper-wad artillery and the delights of the ol' swimmin' hole. For the shadow of the hickory switch or the leather strap no longer hangs over them.

Not that Mr. Alexander intended to put any ideas into the kids' heads. He merely had an unusually kind and sensitive heart, and couldn't stand seeing children wallowed for what he considered minor offences. Having been a school teacher himself, he readily understood the conditions as they existed and determined to safeguard them by the ingenious proviso.

In addition to his teaching Alexander had practiced law and invested in real estate. He invested also in the Midland Valley Railroad and found it very profitable. Before he died at the age of eighty he had purposed leaving his estate to the El Paso schools, but abruptly changed his mind when he heard that a refractory pupil had been whipped there.

Here are some of the sentences penned on the back of his will by the donor. They show the tenor of his thoughts and suggest indirectly that as a pupil of the grade schools he may have encountered unnecessary harshness among his instructors:

"Every grown person is, by the law against assault and battery, protected against corporal abuse by another. Is not a child in school as worthy of as much protection as a grown person? I consider it horrible for a teacher or anybody else to whip, strike, kick, swear at, or in any other manner abuse physically children in school."

"A child should be as safe in school as while on the street. Is it?"

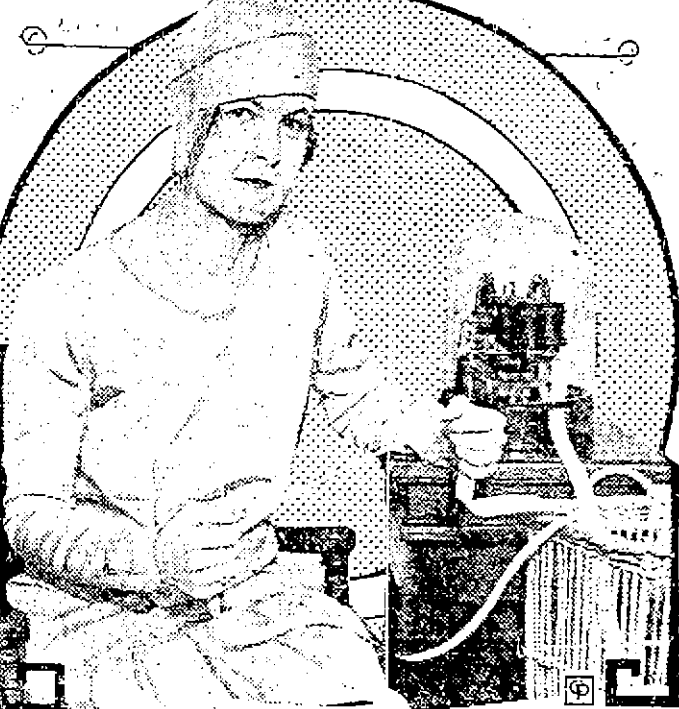

"Corporal punishment in schools, either moderate or immoderate, is a relic of barbarism."

This is a beautiful sentiment on the part of the late Mr. Alexander, but if the officials of the Greenwood schools must be mercenary and accept his monetary gift they would do well to substitute a suitable punishment for the good old-fashioned rod.

Communists Denounce Injunction Granted In Milk Driver War

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, June 3.—Denouncing an injunction issued against striking drivers of the Liberty Dairy here, members of the Communist party today announced that they would "defy the scrap of paper and continue to defy it."

The attack on the injunction was led by A. Jakira, district organizer for the Communist party, and started last night at a mass meeting called to protest against "a violation of the rights of workers" and the "capitalistic system which made possible the murder of Michael Rockford."

Rockford was shot to death last week when a mob of men attacked a wagon of the dairy which was guarded by two special deputy sheriffs. The deputies fired into the crowd when they began hurling stones at the wagon. The shots were returned and in the melee Rockford fell, shot through the chest, and died a short time later. William Albertson, "campus radical" who was expelled recently from the University of Pittsburgh because of his activities in the Liberal Club, student organization banned from Pitt's campus, graduated to the full-time radical stamp last night when he joined in the demonstration of the "nasty-nice housekeepers."

P. Oush, secretary of the Labor party in Pennsylvania.

The speakers also scored the American Federation of Labor for "openly aiding the Liberty Dairy to form a company Union."

DAWES TO EXTEND NEW NAVAL PLAN TO GREAT BRITAIN

ple allowed that to go into the bill as a concession and how it has arisen to plague them.

If the new American 'yardstick' is acceptable to the British as a basis for arriving at the relative naval needs of the two countries the 15-cruiser program goes by the boards, for President Hoover aims not only to regulate the size of navies, but to actually reduce them.

Decision Needed.
A decision must be had in the next two months, or by August 1. Already, Secretary of the Navy Adams, at President Hoover's direction, has delayed submission of his cruiser estimates to the bureau of the budget. If no understanding is reached with the British by August 1, however, these estimates must be submitted and the work gone ahead with under the law.

It is considered doubtful, however, whether all the 15 cruisers ever will see water. Five of them must be laid down this year, under the law, providing no agreement is reached. The navy will receive bids on them this week. Under the enactment law, the president is empowered to stop construction any time 'an international agreement' is reached, so that even if the five keels are laid down for this year, it would still be possible to suspend the building of the ten for 1930 and 1931.

The Anglo-American naval differences lie in cruisers. The British, with their coaling stations and naval bases all over the world, can utilize small cruisers to just about as much advantage as large cruisers. The United States, with its far-flung bases and tremendous distances, cannot. American experts contend that American defense requirements demand the cruiser of 10,000 tons. It was upon the rock of that difference that the Geneva meeting went completely to smash.

The new 'yardstick' which the experts here have worked out under President Hoover's direction, aims at an adjustment of this stubborn controversy on a basis of relative needs.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

By J. Carroll Mansfield

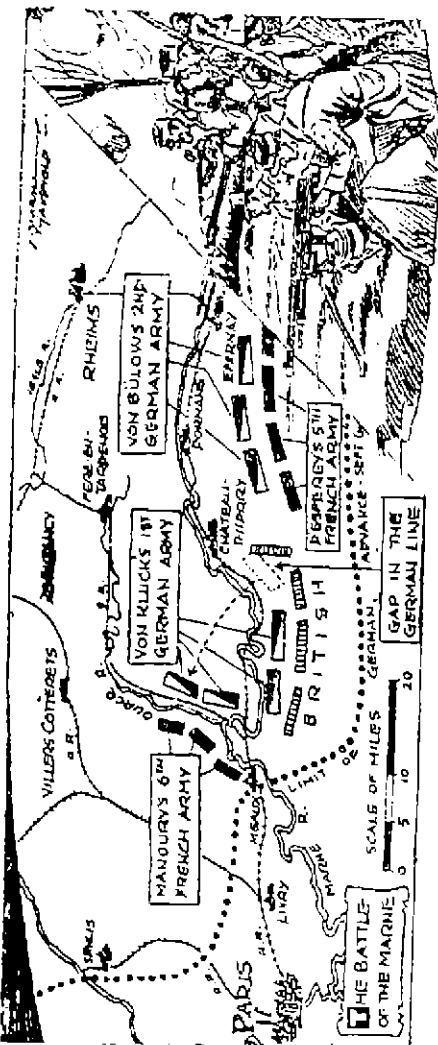

The Story Of The World War

SEPTEMBER 8, 1914, THE BATTLE OF THE MARNE REACHED THE CRITICAL POINT. GEN. MANOURY'S 6TH FRENCH ARMY KEPT UP ITS FIERCE ASSAULT UPON THE GERMAN RIGHT WING UNDER VON KLUCK ON THE OURCQ, WHILE EACH SIDE FOUGHT DESPERATELY TO OUT-FLANK THE OTHER.

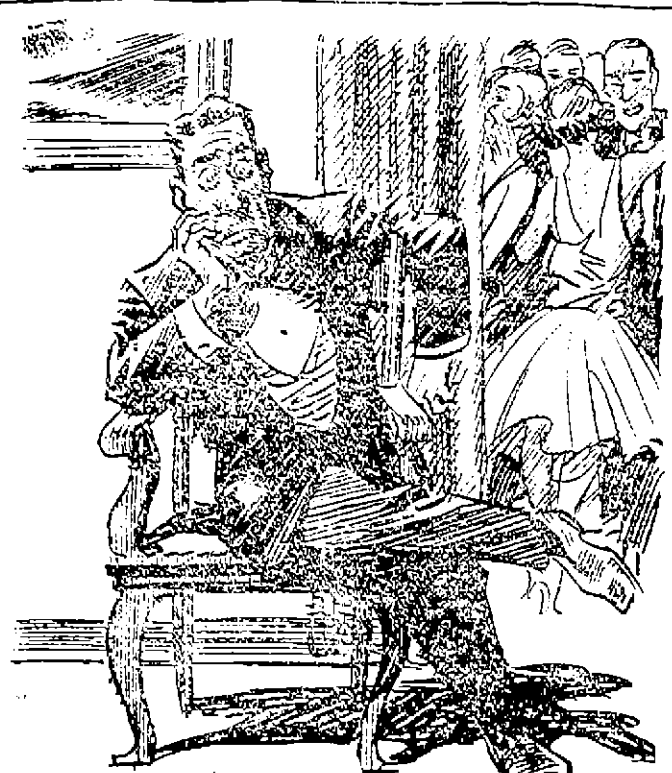

WEST OF CHATEAU-THIERRY, THE BRITISH, HAVING DRIVEN OFF A SMALL FORCE OF UHLANS THAT CONFRONTED THEM, ADVANCED STEADILY INTO THE GAP IN THE GERMAN LINE BETWEEN VON KLUCK'S AND VON BULOW'S ARMIES. THE GERMANS, LACKING RESERVES TO CLOSE THE BREACH, NOW WISHED FOR THE FOUR DIVISIONS THAT HAD BEEN TRANSFERRED FROM THEIR RIGHT WING TO THE EAST PRUSSIAN FRONT.

TO THE EAST, AT ST. GOND AND FERE CHAMPENOISE, A NEWLY CREATED FRENCH ARMY, THE 9TH, UNDER GENERAL FOCH, BRAVELY STOOD ITS GROUND, AND THWARTED THE COMBINED EFFORTS OF VON KLUCK AND VON HAUSEN TO SMASH THROUGH THE FRENCH CENTER. TOMORROW—THE EPIC OF THE MARNE (CONCLUDED).

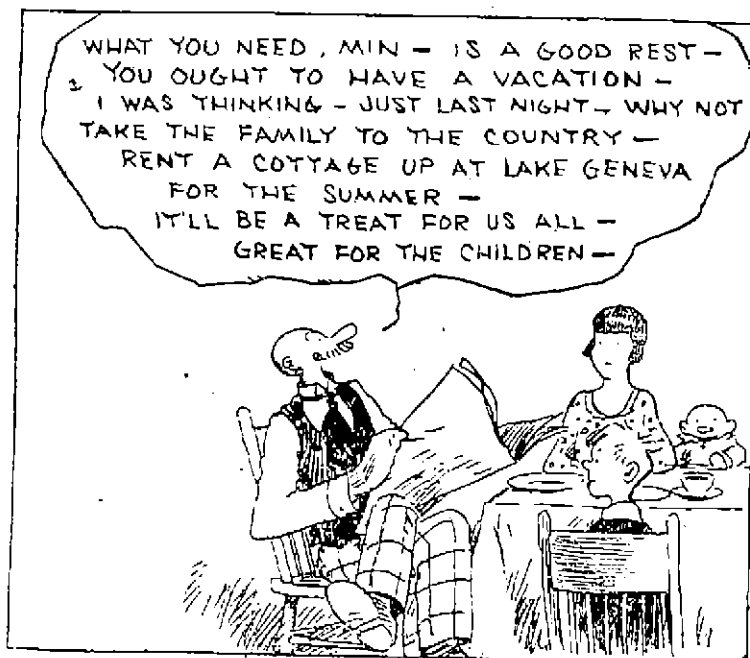

AS THE BRITISH APPROACHED THE MARNE BRIDGES, THE FRENCH 5TH ARMY, NOW LED BY GEN. DESPERY, HURLED ITSELF UPON VON BULOW'S EXPOSED RIGHT WING AND DROVE IT FROM THE TOWN OF MONTMIRAIL.

FANS READY FOR PUNCH PARTY AT BOWL

BY RUBE GOLDBERG

Italian Joe Gans To Battle Firpo

Rohanna Slams With Feldman And Rio Meets Lou Sanders

TWO FOUR ROUND BOUTS ON CARD

By ED FRITZ

Fistic inclined with a penchant for punch, will try to Bill Gans' fresh air bowl tonight to see Henry Firpo, Louisville and Italian Joe Gans, New York city, middleweights, clash in a bout listed for 10 rounds. It will be their first meeting and indications point to a crowd of several thousand fans and fanettes.

Firpo has fought furiously and often here. The only two who gave him a fight were Floyd Hubert and Jack Dillon and in return battles they snuffed them around as though they were toothpicks. Joe Gans, however, Firpo will find a seasoned veteran who has battled with the champions and a chap who knows all of the ring tricks.

Gans is no beauty so far as facial countenance goes. Instead he is akin to Bull Montana, excepting that he is 75 per cent more handsome than the motion picture actor. In punch, however, Joe shines like a 250 candlepower light in Snakes Reef and Mr. Firpo had best guard his chin lest he may fear the birdie sing.

Joe romped at the Jimmie Dime gymnasium Saturday and Sunday. He went through his training as though he liked it, rather than make it appear like drudgery and if his work tonight is characterized by the rough and ready display of pep and punch he exhibited Firpo is for a rather tempestuous voyage.

But this has been said of other fights. Everytime Firpo was picked by the general public as a loser he flashed something unique and new and finished in front when the fighting had ended. Firpo, at Lakewood Beach yesterday smiled when told that Joe had been brought here to "take him into camp."

Firpo Has Right Dope
"Gans may be all they say he is but I'm a little better than some people give him credit for. I'm no shouting violet but I'm here to say that the boy who beats me or sends me down and out will have to fight better than I can. I'm in this game to bowl them over for so much per bout and I'd like to bowl over Gans, too."

Gans circulated around the city last night. He attracted attention wherever he went because there is no getting away from the fact that his face shows the battle wounds of many a bruising encounter. In stadium he is built for a great body puncher but he is said to possess a hot hand equal to that of the Louisville.

The semi-final will bring Joe Feldman, a runch slam, swinger into action against George Rohanna. They will box six rounds if one or the other doesn't end the fight with a knockout. They are welterweights and have never fought each other previously.

Frankie Rio, the dancing master of Sharon will cast punches with rugged Lou Sanders. Lou's best asset is a left hook and a slugging for cutting up punches and taking the fire from his antagonists, then romping to victory. They will go six rounds at 130 pounds.

Lichenstein's First Appearance
Meyer Lichenstein and Joe Rubnick have never fought here. They are strangers in this vicinity. Meyer hails from Baltimore and Joe comes from Donora. They will weigh 135 lbs or take two pounds and it looks as though swings and punches will feature the four round go.

Meyer has fought Steve O'Malley to a draw. Rubnick depends on his speed and hopes to get into a higher rank if he can beat Lichenstein. He will have to go some to do this. He wanted to fight Ray Collins at 135 but turned it down to take on Mr. Lichenstein.

Dick O'Leary, fancy boxer who appeared here last week will have the family represented by his brother.

Tom, a wild-swinging Irishman who will tackle Paul Balin, ex-champion of the Pittsburgh amateurs. Patsy Brannigan will handle Paul. Last week Patsy said: "Holly, Gool My boy can whip not only Tom, but Dick O'Leary and O'Dowd together."

To suit his action to work Sir Patsy signed his 122 pounder to prance with Tom who is no king for science. To be frank Tom doesn't want to know anything about science. He likes to trade in and swap punches. He may get his desires granted tonight if Mr. Paul Balin is everything that Patsy Brannigan says he is.

Bouts Start At Nine
The doors will open at 7:45 p. m. Daylight Savings time. At nine o'clock fast time the bell will be hammered and the boxing commission will start the show. There will be two four round bouts, two six round bouts and the main affair of 10 chapters. It is probable that several will end in a knockout.

Next week the main bout will be fought by Frankie Ferro, Philadelphia and Paris Kid Cangelie of Mahoningtown, who has been campaigning in eastern rings. Hearing that Ferro had lost but made a hit with Tony Herrera, Mr. Cangelie's friends urged him: "Come home, the lightweight honor of the city is at stake." So the Kid is ready for fight.

Forso Pacelli has been requested to meet Eddie Weygant a second time. Romeo feels aggrieved that not everybody thought he won. Romeo lost because he lacked the fire of aggressiveness and the constancy of punch. He may change about next week and knock the whiskers off Weygant who is in the throes of a comeback.

Wampum Defeats Bessemer 4 To 3

Macks-Giants Display Class

Philadelphia Athletics Out In Front By Good Margin In American League

NEW YORK GIANTS SLOWLY ADVANCING

IN DAVIS J. WALSH Sports Editor International News Service
NEW YORK, June 3.—The Giants and Athletics, magic names in the days when Matty and Baker, Collins, Barry and McInnis were the infield of infields, began to look the part today of a reasonably intelligent bet as collaborators in another world series such as set the populace twitter back in 1905 and again in 1911 and 1913. These were monumental offerings to the pages of baseball history, notable contributions being Mathewson's three shutouts in 1905 and Baker's home runs to win successive games from Marquard and Mathewson in 1911, and we may never see their like again. But admittedly the chance is there, with the Athletics so far in front, that the Giants coming with the speed of an evil rumor.

The latter were an inch and a half out of last place two weeks ago. Then they won six straight, blew one to the Dodgers and yesterday their second victory in two games with the Cubs gave them four more in a row for a record of 10 out of the last 11. I don't know how far the outfit may intend to go with this proposition, but this much is certain, any time the Giants play 500 baseball through the first five weeks of a season, the National League owes them a lot of victories.

Rocco To Fight Otto Von Porat

Looks As Though Risko Doesn't Want Any More Of Rocco

CANGIE MAY MEET FRANKIE FERRO HERE

By ED FRITZ

Emmett Rocco, conqueror of Johnny Risko has been matched by Jimmie Dunn and Joe Cumo to fight Otto Von Porat, the husky Norwegian in a 10 round bout at Paddy Harmon's club, Chicago, June 11, according to announcement made here and also at Chicago. Emmett is training at Lakewood Beach, East Brook and is to be on the ground practically a week in advance of the Cumo.

Dunn and Cumo, signed Rocco against Von Porat after Danny Dunn, manager of Risko showed what they termed a lethargic attitude toward a return Rocco-Risiko fight.

Immediately after the decision of the Risiko-Rocco fight, Danny Dunn waived that his boxer had been treated ill and Dunn and Cumo offered to send Rocco with Risiko again. The bout was talked of for June and during the past week they have waited patiently for some word from Cleveland but it began to look like a lost bout and they turned eyes westward.

Von Porat is one of the best of the present crop of heavyweights and the Chicago bout should be a classic in punch. Emmett can punch, likewise Von Porat.

National Potters who will hold a big picnic at Cascade Park June 15, have secured a former pottery worker, Frank Palermo, Sebring, O., to conduct a boxing show at the park here. In the main tilt they will use Sammy Harris, Akron, against either Steve O'Malley of Meyer Lichtenstein. The preliminaries have not yet been arranged.

Paris Kid Cangelie, Seventh ward, who has been boxing in New York, is expected home today to start training for a bout with Frankie Ferro, at the Jolly bowl.

Cangelie made a very good showing against Freddy Fitzgerald here and Ferro fought Tony Herrera. If Cangelie fights he will battle under the colors of Jimmie Dime.

Joe Dinger, local welterweight will go to the wars tonight in the Brad-dock bowl. He has been matched to fight Phil Seelo of McKeesport in the semi-final of six rounds.

Dinger has not milled since he fought Johnny Piel here. Seelo is a victim of Mickie Solomon who is taking a layoff. Dinger hopes to make a good showing then return to the Jolly bowl.

Pennsy Team Tops Italians

Valley Outpitches Shields To Give P. R. R. Team Victory In Lawrence
League

In one of the best played games of the Lawrence County League to date, the Pennsy team played the Italian A. A. team, 4 to 2, Saturday afternoon at the E. & A. field. The game was a pitchers' battle between Valley and Shields, with the former the most effective.

The P. R. R. boys scored two runs in the first inning and one in the second to give them an early lead. Shields tightened up and did not permit another run until the seventh. The Italians were unable until the eighth, when they bunched hits to tally a pair of runs. Earl Pains and Jones hit safely during the inning.

The sensational fielding of James and Byak for the Pennsy team kept the fans interested in the battle, this pair of youngsters grabbing some exceptionally hot inners.

The Pennsy team will clash with Wampum at the Wampum field on Tuesday evening and with the Bees at the E. & A. field on Thursday evening at six o'clock. The Pennsy team seems unbeatable this year and it is going to be hard to stop the McCloskey managed outfit. Hennon, Jones, James, Rodenbaugh and Pains had extra base hits Saturday.

Mushball League

Tonight the New Castle News mushball team will play the Post Office team in a Mushball League game at Colonial field. The game is called for 6:15 o'clock.

The News team will try for a comeback tonight after that 42 to 2 setback suffered at the hands of the fine Shenango Tin Mill team last week. The Post Office team feels confident of taking the measure of the Newsies, but the printer boys may have something to say about that.

Wednesday night the Tin Mill team is scheduled to meet the Phalanx team. Friday night the Lehigh Cement team meets the Phrenon.

So much of this criticism of the mushball game seems always on the point of adding: "And observe how good I am."

Poor Ol' Black Sox Joe

By QUINN HALL

A few weeks ago, we had a little visit with Joe Jackson in Savannah, Georgia. Joe, once a well-known outfielder with the Chicago White Sox, is now proprietor of one of the most successful dyeing and cleaning establishments in Savannah. He has a business which is worth in the neighborhood of $75,000 and he is held in high esteem by the good folks of Savannah.

At one of the uptown offices they told us that Joe was at the factory and there we found him. We shook hands. It was Joe who brought up the White Sox scandal which shunned the big fellow out of the national pastime. But for that it might never have been mentioned in our talk.

But Joe brought it up. In no uncertain terms. He still has a feeling that he got the worst of the deal—a feeling, by the way, which is shared by a good many of the fans.

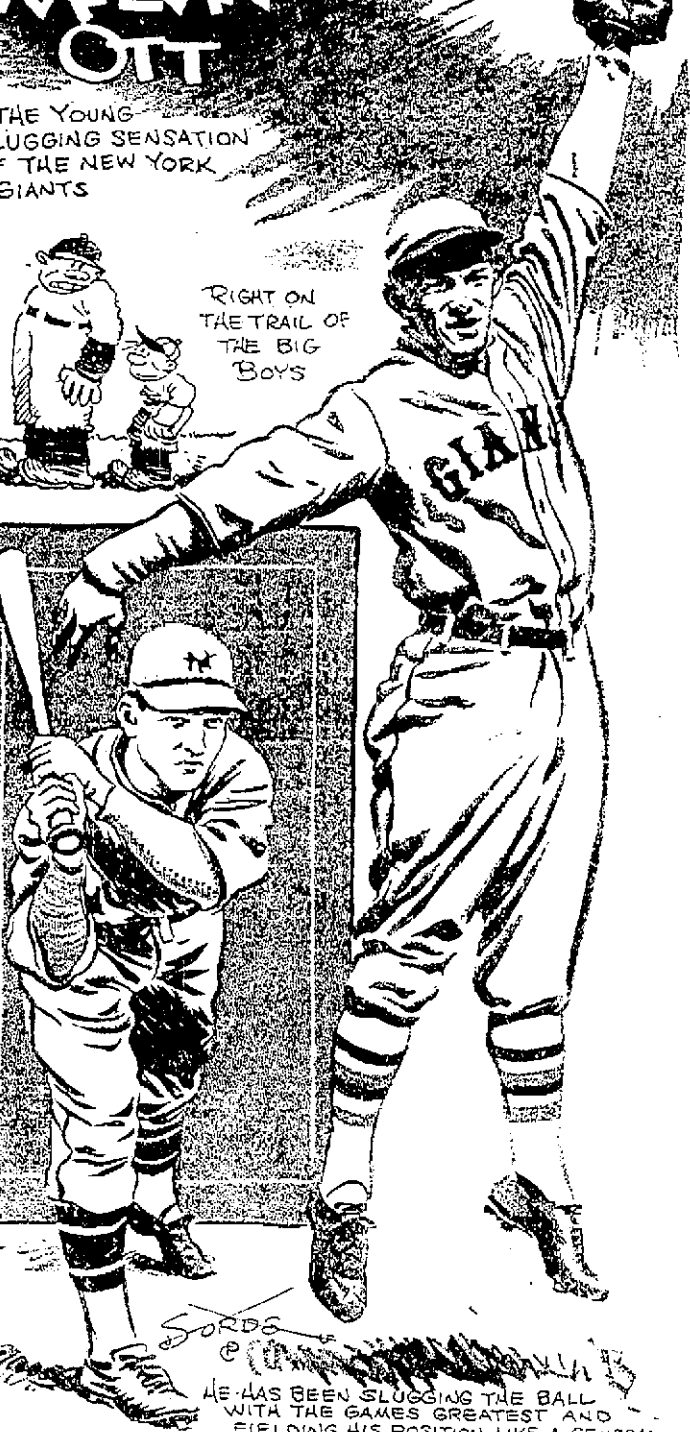

The passing years have mellowed the scandal which reared its ugly head, but Joe can't forget. The thought that he was officially escorted out of the game is constantly before him. And as Joe looks straight in your eye and tells you his side of the story, it's hard to believe that he was guilty.

Of course, "Shoeless Joe" would like to come back to vindicate himself before the fans. "If Judge Landis could see his way clear to reinstate me," he said, "I'd like to play again. I'd take a job in any league and if I didn't lead that particular league in hitting I'd play the season for nothing. You see it isn't the money I'm interested in. I have a good paying business here, but I sure would like to play again."

The big fellow has a feeling that he could still step with the best hitters in the game and that a year of heavy clothing might, at least, help vindicate him.

SORDS POINTS

Young Giant Bids For Home Run Honors

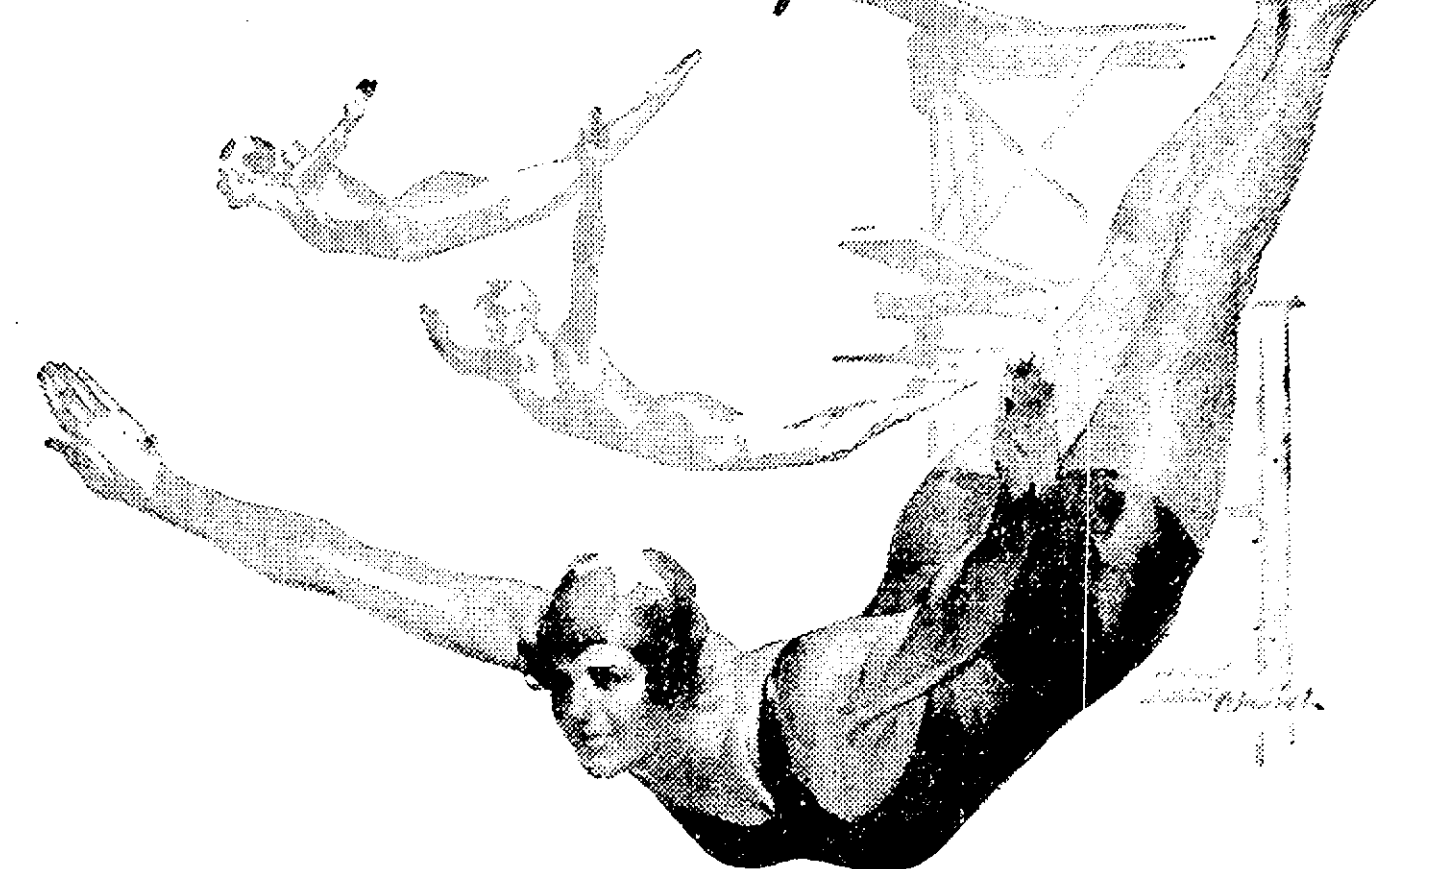

By JACK SORDS

Sports Cartoonist Writer For Central Press

The New York Giants may be having their ups and downs this season, but he expects to see himself continue this too to toe stand with the leaders in that specialty. But as it is he might have more today had he been favored with a little luck. Many of his drives were caught just before taking their place in the outfield stands.

Ott has been in baseball only since 1925, when he came to the Giants. He failed to break into active service until the following year, and at that time he was playing 134 games, was his first as a regular and he established himself as a fixture by hitting .322. He's only 20.
